Call and examine them.

CANDIDATES—VAUGHN—LUTON.

Measrs. Vaughn and Lutton, opposing candidates for the Legislature, are in discussion in Hickman, Monday, opening the Legislative canvass. The rap promises to be a pleasant and courteous one, though it will be warmly contested by each, and the friends of each these gentlemen hold substantially an identical the same positions, and unless some differences are hereafter developed, the vote between them must be upon purely personal grounds.

Mr. Vaughn's speech was mainly devoted to an account of his services in the last Legislature, claiming that he had served the people faithfully and deserving endorsement by a re-election. He said that he had heard of no one funding his course in the Legislature, except several charges which came from certain citizens of the town of Fulton. These charges were:

1st. He had declined to pass a act relieving that locality of the operation of the Local Option law. There came to him a petition asking him to pass such a bill, and there also came to him a petition protesting against its repeal. He admitted these petitions, together with the vote of the county adopting Local Option law, to the proper committee, and that committee reported adversely to its passage. The committee's report met his emphatic approval and endorsement. To Local Option law was adopted by a vote of the entire county, and he held out if ever repealed it should be done by a vote of the entire county. He (Vaughn) claimed to be a sincere and honest temperance man, and friend of good morals, and if there were those who desired to strike him down because of these conscientious convictions, let the blow come, for he would not sacrifice or stultify them for no office in the gift of the people.

2nd. The second charge or complaint from these citizens of Fulton was his failure to pass a bill giving the town of Fulton the benefit of the poll tax of its own citizens to keep up bridges, &c., in his corporate limits. He declined to pass said bill, because it was manifestly unjust to all the other tax-payers of Fulton county, leaving the burden of caring for the highways, &c., of the county, to the other tax-payers without proportionate help from the citizens of the town of Fulton. The 3rd charge which had found its way into the Fultonian—this one of a disappointed office-seeker—was to the effect that he (Vaughn) had caused bill to be passed relieving himself as Sheriff of Hickman county, &c. The fact was that the Attorney-General of the State had the bill passed—the State giving him (Vaughn) some $200 on delinquent tax list, an excess he had paid to the State and the Attorney-General decided that the only way for him to get his money back was to pass such a bill.

These were all the complaints he had ever heard, alleged, and he demanded that his opponent, Dr. Lutton, state whether he (Lutton) endorsed or disapproved of his course on these points. He (Vaughn) knew that there was a combination or clique about the little town of Fulton, which had been working assiduously to get some candidate to come up to beat him. He knew this combination at Fulton, and elsewhere, was composed chiefly of the anti-unionists, and throughout the two counties this vote as pretty generally arrayed against him. Dr. Lutton he knew to be a high-toned gentleman, and professed to be as strong an advocate of the Local Option law as himself, and he (Vaughn) wanted Lutton to speak out plainly and unequivocally on this question.

DR. LUTON'S speech, being his first in the canvass, was for the most part merely an announcement, and a personal statement relative to his present candidacy. He as a candidate, he knew well, as not the candidate of any ring, clique or combination of the town of Fulton, or any other town. He was a citizen of the town of Fulton—proud that he was, but if he (Lutton) was elected to a seat in the Legislature, it would be his ambition to represent every part and portion of the counties of Hickman and Fultonlike and impartially. He had no friendliness to reward or punish, and malicious could he entertain any prejudices against any portion of the citizens of the town of Fulton who desired to defeat Mr. Vaughn for causes named; and it was possible that anti-unionists in other portions of Hickman and Fulton counted against him; but it was wrong and unfair that he (Lutton) should be elected to represent the town of Fulton, or any other town, as a candidate against him, that he (Lutton) was therefore of necessity a special element of our people. That was a special element of our people. That was a special element of our people. That was a special element of our people.

Another great mistake we make in raising children is that we are not careful enough how we talk before them. We praise their little smartness within their hearing and make them vain; we reprove them for their little misdeeds as we have shown. We are careful how we act and speak before our servants, how much more so should we be before our children. It is true, there is no code for the individual how to raise children. We all are creatures of circumstances, and every one of these things has to do with the best opportunity will allow; but one thing we all can do, we can practice simplicity, truthfulness and charity. A simple, truthful and charitable mind is sure to become refined, and only refinement of heart and soul is the representative of true sentiment. Let us cultivate it and the love for music, poetry, true cheerful religion, and the sense for all that is beautiful will adorn our homes and society.

Quinine and Arsenic
Form the basis of some of the new remedies in the market, and are the last resort of Physicians and people who know no better medicine to employ, for this distressing complaint. The effects of either of these drugs are destructive to the system, producing headache, intestinal disorders, vertigo, dizziness, ringing in the ears, and depression of the constitution. Arsenic is a powerful and dangerous poison, containing neither quinine, arsenic, nor any deleterious ingredient, and is an infallible and rapid cure for every form of Fever and Ague. Its effects are permanent and certain, and no injury can result from its use. Besides being a positive cure for Fever and Ague, it is a powerful tonic, and a superior remedy for Liver Complaints. It is an excellent anti-scurvy and preventive, as well as a cure, of all complaints arising from indigestion, nervous and malarial fevers. By direct action on the Liver and Gall bladder, it stimulates the system to a vigorous and healthy condition.

For Sale—A Dwelling House, containing a large portion of the town. Apply at THIS OFFICE.

Flashes of Home Society Forbids.

The Beam in Parents' Eyes.

["Not 'till Heaven makes man of some other metal"]

Dear friend, Maud Muller.

Your courageous attack upon society misdeeds is highly appreciated by a sister spirit. Indeed, it is necessary that some one should arouse the humdrum members of society, and gently, yet charitably repress the too exuberant nonsensical spirit of the age. In this great work I would modestly say, you have written for the present, in beautifully glowing language, with simple pithed words will work for the future. The sweet little children making our homes happy with their artlessness, let them not become infected by the raging disease. "One preventive is worth a dozen cures."

In acknowledging the truth of existing evils in society, in laying open the faults of our dear young people, let us look to the root of the evil, and we will find the beam in our own eye. Why do we complain of lack of animation, lack of music, poetry, fact, and feeling in our children, when we are the first training of our children, in planting the seed of culture that we have made a mistake, if we deplore a failing in our children, when we are the first to fail in our own eye. A child's mind is like a soft tablet of wax, the first impressions are lasting for life. Do we think of the child as a creature of the future, and the anticipation of joy and comfort for our old age? Are we always aware that our example at home every day is more potent than any school or Sunday school lessons. We look for him to be up in a few days.

Last Saturday, Prof. Emmerson's instrumental and vocal music school closed. The exercises were pleasant and enjoyable, and were well attended. The morning was devoted to the class examination which was very nice and quite creditable to all concerned. In the evening the visitors were entertained by addresses from Prof. T. B. Underwood, Dr. C. P. Glover and others, and by some splendid music by Prof. E. and his class. There is considerable talk of adding music to the literary school at this time, which would be a local reputation as an institution of learning. May the spirit of improvement still go on, especially as long as the mental welfare of the community is affected.

CRYSTAL ITEMS.

CRYSTAL, TENN., June 14, 1881.

Mr. Editor—For fear that our little village will be forgotten, I will let you know what we are doing here:

The weather is warm and health good. Mr. David Mathews is very low, he is not likely to recover.

R. A. Campbell is employed at the mill to run the edger.

The Antioch school is progressing nicely; a celebration is talked of.

Mr. Samuel Summers, sawyer for W. J. Dickerson, has moved into the house formerly occupied by J. D. Lynch.

Rev. Mr. Jones preaches at Antioch next Sunday at 11 o'clock, it being his regular appointment.

J. R. Her and E. A. Glover say they feel sad and lonely since the music school closed. Keep up a brave heart, boys, it will all come out right yet.

There will be a musical entertainment at the Academy to-night, by Prof. W. K. Crowe, the little white boys, it will all come out right yet.

The boys held a debate at the Clear school house last Saturday night—the question discussed being "Resolved, That the works of Nature are more attractive to man than the works of Art." The speakers on the affirmative were E. Clor, J. R. Her, J. Carlson and C. S. Crowe; on the negative, Reeves, T. E. Marshall, and Jas. Carpenter. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

The lodge of Knights of Honor at this place is growing at rapid rate. There are new additions at almost every meeting. The membership has been about doubled since Christmas. This lodge has been organized some four or five years and there has not been a death in it yet, which certainly speaks well for the medical examiner and general good health of our section.

Mr. Alf. W. Howard met with a painful accident, one day last week, as he was returning from Union City, where he had been hauling lumber. In coming down a little hill, his mules in a trot, the wagon wheel struck a stump and threw him off, the hind wheel striking him in the back, passing entirely over him. Dr. F. M. McLee was called in, who reported no bones broken and as being not necessarily dangerous. We look for him to be up in a few days.

Last Saturday, Prof. Emmerson's instrumental and vocal music school closed. The exercises were pleasant and enjoyable, and were well attended. The morning was devoted to the class examination which was very nice and quite creditable to all concerned. In the evening the visitors were entertained by addresses from Prof. T. B. Yours truly, Ex.

When it's a fool
—When it's hot he wants it cool;
When it's cold he wants it hot—
He's contented with his lot.

When it's dry
He for showers is heard to sigh;
When—when he's wish—it rains,
Of the wet foot complains.

Hot or dry, cold or wet,
Nothing is so hard to get
I consider, as a rule,
Man's a fool.
